Designed to help individuals find and delete the unrecognized sources and causes of their relationship problems, the four week online seminar addresses all aspects of partner relationships.

"Relationships with your mate not only have a direct effect on your personal happiness but on how you interact with your children and the rest of the world, as well," states Ms. Greenberg. In addition to deleting the emotional suffering that results from infidelity, divorce, loss of a loved one, and other relationship issues, Ms. Greenberg has also incorporated a series of deletions and strengthening's designed to be replayed on a daily basis to achieve ongoing success. "This is like a mental and emotional diet and exercise. To get results, you need a method for success and then to integrate it into your daily life," says Ms. Greenberg. "The results are life changing."

In keeping with her life mission of helping people change their lives, Ms. Greenberg is also helping change the lives of disadvantaged children through nonprofit Safety Harbor Kids to which she donates 20% of her proceeds from the seminar.
